

Check our weather forecast
Catch the best flight to London in Daily News and Express file
www.expressindia.com/office

Things often say enjoy for ever
A 100 days of freedom
A nation in the state, says to be
In the few days on the way

Free-flying without threat
New time, to the city people
Want to discover what it means
In the few days on the way

The National

Volume 8 Issue 227

Monday, November 19, 2013 9:00 AM

Love knows no board walls

...the man who is holding the baby in the red dress is the father of the child who was born in the city of Aleppo. The father is a Syrian and the mother is a woman from the city of Aleppo. The father is a Syrian and the mother is a woman from the city of Aleppo.

Rebels look set for defeat in Aleppo

Lightning assault by Assad's troops, all in and Kurdish fighters leads to loss of entire northern section of the city's east

By Anand

Aleppo, Syria — In a lightning assault, Assad's troops, all in and Kurdish fighters, have taken control of the entire northern section of the city's east. The rebels, who had been fighting for months, are now being pushed back towards the city center. The assault was led by the Syrian Arab Republic's army, which has been fighting against the rebels since the start of the conflict. The rebels are now being pushed back towards the city center. The assault was led by the Syrian Arab Republic's army, which has been fighting against the rebels since the start of the conflict.

Crown Prince tells of pride in recruits

Saudi Arabia's Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman told a group of young recruits that he was proud of their initiative to join the military. He said that they were brave and dedicated, and that he was proud of their initiative to join the military. He said that they were brave and dedicated, and that he was proud of their initiative to join the military.

The recruits, who are from various parts of the country, are being trained in the military. They are being trained in the military. They are being trained in the military. They are being trained in the military. They are being trained in the military.

Irate expats want their belongings

Over 50 have lost goods shipped home by two relocation firms. The expats are angry because they have lost their belongings. They are angry because they have lost their belongings. They are angry because they have lost their belongings.

The expats are angry because they have lost their belongings. They are angry because they have lost their belongings. They are angry because they have lost their belongings. They are angry because they have lost their belongings. They are angry because they have lost their belongings.

...the Indian government is taking steps to ensure that the expats get their belongings back. The Indian government is taking steps to ensure that the expats get their belongings back. The Indian government is taking steps to ensure that the expats get their belongings back.

Foreigner surrogacy ban: 'Our embryos are trapped in India'

Couples plead for them to be returned. The couples are pleading for their embryos to be returned. They are pleading for their embryos to be returned. They are pleading for their embryos to be returned.

The ban on surrogacy for foreigners has caused a lot of controversy. The couples are pleading for their embryos to be returned. They are pleading for their embryos to be returned. They are pleading for their embryos to be returned.